PSYCHIC UPSET OVER LIVE WIRE ON GHOSTVILLE LINE

De Santos Put Young Woman on Spouse's Job as Medium and Drew Lightning.

Old "Doc," Thomas De Santos, "psychic instructor," founder and Riwano Tumbo of the "New Jersey Society of Modern Spiritualism," made a fatal mistake when he hired Miss Emma Leonard to aid him in his work at his ghost laboratory at No. 171 Newark Avenue, Jersey City. Prior to the advent of Miss Leonard, De Santos had employed his wife as coadjutor whenever he wished to establish connections between the present and the past. It was while Miss De Santos was on a visit to her mother that Miss Leonard was installed. He says his wife's work wasn't satisfactory.

When Miss De Santos got back and found another woman on the job, she and "the Doc" had words. Two days later Miss De Santos tried to "end it all" by the gas route, but at the City Hospital an intern and a pulmotor brought her back to mundane tribulations.

Miss De Santos revived, she was found to be laboring under the impression that she had indeed shuffed off this mortal coil and that, after a brief interval, she had shuffled on another one. She sent this note to De Santos:

"Doubting Thomas! Am I always with the exception of the Devil? Am I sweethearts, concentrate on calmness, that you may receive me without getting nervous. I am going to tell you something; but do not fret. Try not to. For the next three days you will suffer greatly the torments of the Devil and of me, but be brave. I am poor and truant, but I will be married again on July 15, of this year, in the presence of all our friends and our preaching minister will be St. Joseph. I am your sweetheart, Lily—the Emblem of Purity. That's me."

Then De Santos had her summoned to his office, told her she must be cured of her brain was affected.

"I am not insane," said Miss De Santos on the witness stand. "I merely committed suicide when I found that my husband had got another soulmate. Of course, now that I have come to life again, I shall have to marry again, and over again."

"Why did you kill yourself?" asked Judge Dolan.

"Because my husband persisted in supplanting me with that woman. I came in one day and found her carrying a large plate of strawberries to the Doctor. There was only one woman in the room more attractive than the Doctor could eat. My inference was that they were both eating strawberries from the same dish."

Judge Dolan ordered Police Captain Lee to investigate the "laboratory." De Santos and Miss Leonard were arrested for practicing medicine without a license. They were fined $5 each yesterday, with the alternative of leaving the State.

The "Doc" says he doesn't know yet which he will do, pay the fine or go to New York.

ZIP, THE ZOO BEAR,
OBJECTS TO NEW MATEPete Came From Brooklyn, and
There Was a Lively Scrap Before Bill Snyder Intervened.

Zip's the big brown bear of the Central Park zoo who in early life used to peek the peaks of the brown Himalayas and ride the mountain ranges. For years Bruinbille, a little curly brown bear, kept house for him, but life has been lonely in the big bear pen since Hilly died.

Bill Snyder, the head game keeper—no, the game head keeper—of the zoo, received from the Brooklyn zoo a black bear who first reared its roar in the heart of the Sierras, in part payment of a lion cub, a zonk and an alligator. Bill thought Zip would like company, so first he put into his pen little Pinky, who was given to the park by chorus girls of the Pinky Panky Poo Company.

Zip paid no attention to Pinky, but when Pete, the black bear, who first roared its roar in the heart of the Sierras, in part payment of a lion cub, a zonk and an alligator. Bill thought Zip would like company, so first he put into his pen little Pinky, who was given to the park by chorus girls of the Pinky Panky Poo Company.
